SWEEP ACCOUNT TRANSFERS

Sweep account transfers can become an important tool to better manage your funds and are an optional feature for your business accounts. With an account sweep, qualified business members can set up automatic transfers to move funds from one share to another. Funds can automatically be swept into an account that is below a specified minimum, or out of a share that is above a specified maximum, or both.

Sweep account transfers allow you to keep your account balances at the designated levels required for your business. You can also use them against lines of credit to act as overdraft protection for your ACU Business Banking checking account.
